'DO SOMETHING BIG'

ERECT "Y HUT" IN HONOR OF THE SOLDIERS, IS SUGGESTED

FOR PEOPLE OF COUNTY

No "Tin Horse, Marble Shaft, Drinking Fountain Affair," Should Be Considered Say Maryville Ministers.

In response to suggestions as to a suitable memorial in honor of Nodaway county's soldiers and in memory of those who will not return the Democrat-Forum has asked expression from the "folks who stayed at home"—the men and women who backed up the fighters—as to what form it should take. In response to the request the ministers of the city have joined in a suggestion that the county erect a memorial worth while and which will be a lasting benefit. The idea is embodied in the following:

November 20, 1918.

Democrat-Forum: Maryville and Nodaway county, as you suggest, should do something in honor of our soldier boys, but let it be something worth while. No "tin horse," marble shaft, drinking fountain affair, but something that shall be not only a memorial but a lasting benefit as well.

"Over there" the thing that stood for helpfulness and succor, in the fierce hell of war through which our boys passed, was the "Y Hut" or some kindred organization. One suggestion is that we build, equip and maintain a community building to be called "The Hut," on the lot opposite the Carnegie Library in Maryville. Then let us make it the moral, social and civic center of Nodaway county. In other words let it be a reminder of the "huts" the boys are used to in France, but let it also be a real "community center" for every social, economic and general religious interest of the county and city, a resting place for farmers and their families where they can enjoy some comfort when in town, a home for Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, the Business Girls Club, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, missionary societies, the Twentieth Century Club, D. A. R., Commercial Club, the Farm Bureau, the Ministerial Alliance and other approved organizations.

The only fitting name is "The Hut." It would stand like the feast of tabernacles "for a memorial forever" of the fierce fires through which our boys have passed, and for a perpetual benefit to the oncoming "second line of defense."

As to how the fund shall be obtained, our suggestion is that we use the organization which has so successfully put over the campaign for the United War Fund, or, if that be not available, an organization can easily be formed on similar lines.

This is our one opportunity to do something big and worth while. Come on! Let's do it!

OUR SCHOOL NEEDS

RURAL BETTERMENT CAMPAIGN TO START DECEMBER 2

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

Average Salary of Teachers But $30 a Month.—State Ranks 32d in Educational Facilities.

The state campaign for better rural school educational facilities will not start until December 2, having been postponed from November 25 on account of the influenza ban. County Superintendent Bert Cooper, member of the executive committee for the campaign, will go to St. Louis tonight to meet with the committee on Friday and Saturday, when plans will be discussed and dates for speakers in all of the 114 counties of the state arranged for.

The campaign was begun by the State Department of Education, through the state superintendent, Uel W. Lamkin, and $11,500 has already been raised.

Lamkin described the educational meetings as intended to "give the boys and girls of Missouri a square deal."

Describing rural school facilities in Missouri, Lamkin said the state was first in the number of mules and hogs, and thirty-second in educational facilities. He said the rural schools are poorly housed, and the average salary of the teachers is $30 a month. For each $100 annually spent in Missouri, only 25 cents goes to education in the rural schools, he said. Another comparison was that while Missouri spends $15,000 to maintain its education system in public schools, only $5,000,000 is spent throughout the country districts.

WHITE BREAD AGAIN

HOOVER ANNOUNCES 80-20 RULE WILL BE ABANDONED

TO GET MORE SUGAR, TOO

Supplies of Wheat From Argentine, Australia and India Are Released as War Ends.

Victory bread soon will disappear from the tables of American homes and public eating places, and more sugar may be put in the sugar bowl after December 1. These changes in the present food regulations have been announced by the Missouri Division of the Food Administration.

The signing of the armistice by Germany further improves the world situation in sugar to such an extent that where supplies are available, four pounds a month for each person in a household, instead of three pounds a month, will be allowed after December 1. Hotels will be allotted supplies on a basis of four pounds for each ninety meals served. The sugar supply in Missouri is adequate to permit this additional allowance being given to households and hotels. Manufacturers using sugar are to be allowed additional supplies.

At the conference of Federal Food Administrators in Washington, Mr. Hoover announced the 80-20 rule requiring that one pound of substitute must be bought with every four pounds of wheat flour, and that bakers must use 20 per cent substitute in all bread baked, will be abandoned immediately. Cessation of hostilities which will release supplies of wheat from the Argentine, Australia, and India, is the reason for the abandonment of the substitute rule.

"This does not mean, however, that the entire food conservation program will be relaxed," said F. B. Mumford, federal food administrator for Missouri. "Contrary to this rather widespread impression, strict economy in all the staple foods must be continued, even though the war is over. America has promised to export almost 20 million tons of food this year, 50 per cent more than was exported last year, and this promise must be fulfilled. To let down at this time in food conservation undoubtedly would result in disaster to the Allied nations. No new crops can be grown over night.

Not only must this promise to the Allies be fulfilled, Mr. Mumford pointed out, but some 180 million neutrals must be fed. And the smaller nations which have arisen from the wreck of the Austrian Empire must be kept in food. They cannot be liberated politically and allowed to starve.

"The efforts of the American people last year in saving food, especially wheat, prevented a collapse in the morale of the Allies," Mr. Mumford continued. "It was lack of food which helped to cause Russia's disintegration; it was lack of food to a large extent which caused the breakdown in the Central Powers; it was lack of food a year ago which almost put Italy out of the war when Austria made her last great drive. And it was sufficient food supplied by this country last winter which kept the Allies intact and put them in a position to take the offensive away from Germany and drive straight through the strongest German defense positions.

"These splendid efforts of the American people must not be nullified by a let-down now in food economy. The period of reconstruction after the war will be a critical one from a food viewpoint. Food must be supplied to a starving world; and America will be the hope of these starving nations."

HUN'S PLAN FAILED

CONFEREES STOOD FIRM

Will Go Into the Conference With a Fixed Program on Main Points of the Peace Terms.

(By Floyd MacGrif, I. N. S. Corres.)

London, Nov. 1.—(By Mail).—Germany's plan and hope to divide the Allies at the peace conference has been frustrated. This possibility has been forseen by Allied statesmen and effective measures taken to counteract it. Not only will the Allies be undivided upon any principal issue, but they, instead, will go into the peace conference with an unalterable and fixed programme on the main points.

On the highest authority I am able to state that the Associated Powers and the United States have been in communication for some weeks on peace terms which shall be granted to Germany. They are divided, roughly, into two classes. The first are the terms covering the main issues to be settled. Upon these there will be no discussion at the peace table, either among the Allies or with Germany. The second and minor class of points to be settled comprise those upon which the Allies have come to a decision, but regarding which they are willing to hear Germany's views, debate them, and if it is found advisable to alter them so as to give full and commensurate justice to all.

As yet the two divisions of peace terms have not been put in final form. They also await the ultimate o. k. of the various associated governments, but negotiations have reached such a stage that this indorsement now will be a mere formality.

Here are some of the main points upon which there is absolute agreement among the Allies and regarding which there will be no deviation at the peace conference.

Return of Alsace-Lorraine to France

Full and complete indemnification of Belgium, including both personal and public property stolen or destroyed, and restoration of Belgium to her former nationhood. Germany must pay up fully for her rampage in Belgium.

Germany must pay for damage done, both to public and private property in France, including factories dismantled. Similar payment must be made for damage done in Roumania, Serbia, Russia, Poland and Greece.

Poland, including pure Polish communities heretofore held by Russia, Prussia and Austria, to be reconstruct

65TH CONGRESS ENDS TODAY

Volume of Legislation Was Only Exceeded by That of the First Session.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The second session of the sixty-fifth congress was scheduled to come to a close with the end of today's session. The sine die adjournment resolution, when passed, will bring to an end a session whose volume of legislation was exceeded only by that of the first session of congress.

Faint whispers that adjournment might be blocked was heard in the capitol lobbies. This was due to the changed attitude of some Republicans as a result of President Wilson's announcement that he will attend the opening sessions of the peace conference. The Democrats asserted, however, any coup planned by the Republicans to postpone adjournment would not succeed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A sine die adjournment resolution was passed by the house soon after it met this afternoon. It provides that congress shall stand adjourned at five o'clock this evening. The senate will adopt the resolution, it is said, just before five o'clock.

LIBERATORS HONORED

Schools Have Been Closed for a Week in Expectation of the Advancing American Army.

With American Army of Occupation, Nov. 21.—All of Luxemburg, the grand duchy lying between Germany and France swarms with American soldiers today. The doughboys have entered the capital and General Pershing announced he would make a formal call upon Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, the ruler, at noon. Every way one looked there are long columns of marching troops, passing in every direction. American lines of communication and supplies are working with the regularity of clock work. Thousands of negroes are at work repairing broken roads filled with shell holes and mending the railways.

In the store windows and public buildings along the principal streets there were pictures of President Wilson, drawn by an artist of Esch, who had worked night and day to complete by hand as many drawings as possible. Pictures of President Poincare, Marshal Foch and King Albert also were prominently displayed.

To the 1st Division fell the honor of crossing the Lorraine line, the advance guard entering Armetz soon after 9 o'clock. For three days the civilians of Armetz had been looking for the Americans, expecting them every minute. There had been no school all week and the children had been drilled in singing and flag waving to receive the advancing army.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

BON VOYAGE, MR. PRESIDENT.

When President Wilson went in person to Congress to read his first message there were gasps from some persons who cannot remember that the world moves.

There's a humorous comparison to be seen between the gasps at that time and the shocked expression with which some persons of the same type of mind greet the news that President Wilson will attend the peace conference in France.

Previous presidents have written long addresses that a secretary would mumble over for an hour or two while the congressmen read them, if at all, from the printed copies given out. Wilson boiled down his message to manageable length and got the attention of congressmen while he read it.

Previous presidents had established a tradition of staying in this country while in office. If Wilson were to continue this tradition he would be like a business man who insisted on staying in his office while negotiations which would determine the whole future of his business were going on in a neighboring city.

No matter who the American representative in the peace conference may be, everyone knows that Wilson's wil' be the deciding voice. His judgment will be surer, his decisions keener, his influence greater, if he is on the spot than if he has to work through 3,000 miles of cable and half a dozen messengers at the other end.

And as for that tradition that a president should not leave his country previous presidents have gone to Panama, taking the stand that they were on American soil so long as they were aboard an American naval vessel.

Surely France would not object if we should similarly claim some sentimental right in the soil where American blood has been shed for the freedom of the world.—The University Missourian.

DIGNITY AND DUTY.

Before the President had made up his mind to attend the peace conference The New York Times argued that he ought not to go because there would be something unseemliness in his participation in a conference, however important, in which other nations were represented by officials of lower rank than himself. The Times fears that the dignity of the President may suffer if he gets into a rough-and-tumble debate with such lowly persons as Prime Ministers, Professors of International Law, and Judges in high courts of justice.

That does not strike The Republic as the American way of looking at the question. The job to be done is to make a peace treaty to which all of the nations will agree, and before there can be any legal agreement by this country the President must be satisfied.

He can go to Paris and talk with Lloyd George, Clemenceau and the rest of them face to face, or he can talk through Col. House or Elihu Root from the American end of a cable. If he attempts to negotiate by cable, he will be in danger of being misunderstood, and also may misunderstand the other negotiators. If he goes, misunderstandings will be easily cleared up and the weight of his tremendous personal prestige will be on the side of such a settlement as America desires.

In that situation it would look as if dignity had better be left to take care of itself, or, rather, left in the safekeeping of that dignified gentleman, the President of the United States.—St. Louis Republic.

ed into an independent state.

The Czecho-Slovaks to be fully and completely independent.

The Balkans to be reconstituted along racial lines, so as to permit the Jugo-Slavs to be an independent state.

The German colonies NOT to be restored to Germany.

Nationality and statehood to be accorded the Arabs.

Syria, Palestine and Mesopotamia not to be returned to Turkey, but given into the care of members of the League of Nations, which shall be established.

The Dardanelles to be internationalized.

Armenia to have autonomy.

Turkey to retain only those districts which are preponderantly Turkish in population.

Italy to have redemption of Italian districts heretofore autocratically ruled by Austria, and Italy to be given security by proper land and sea safeguards, from possibility of attack from the east and north.

Roumania to be restored along racial lines.

Greece to be given proper safeguards.

A League of Nations.

Freedom of the seas to be denied any nation which secretly aspires or openly threatens to employ U-boats in unrestricted naval warfare.

The above points are the main ones whose general terms have been accepted, it may be safely assumed by the Associated Powers. Connected with several of them are details to be agreed upon.

For instance, the exact amount Germany must pay will be linked upon her ability to pay, for the amount will not be made so great she cannot pay it. For this reason, France, Italy, Great Britain and the United States will not ask any indemnity for expenditures made necessary by the war. But Germany is fully capable of paying for damage done in Belgium, unofficially estimated to be more than $2,500,000,000, and for barbarism perpetrated in Poland, Russia, Roumania, Serbia and other Balkan countries, concerning which there are no unofficial estimates of the damage caused.

It was the counsel of Great Britain and her colonies and dominions which prevailed against Germany's wish to get back her colonies. Even though a League of Nations is established the British Empire, her statesmen point out, cannot afford the menace and risk involved by returning Germany's colonies, which easily could be converted into U-boat bases for strangling the British Empire. Great Britain has suffered sufficiently, with the loss of 15,000 sailors and some 8,000,000 tons of shipping, due to U-boat ravages, that she can with good grace demand this protection. And the Allies have agreed. Great Britain does not care what is done with the colonies just so they do not revert to Germany. Administration of them by the League of Nations is being considered.

So far as Syria is concerned, it has not yet been fully decided whether that land will become autonomous or be given into the care of the French, who for 100 years have held a traditional protectorate over the land. Palestine may be left to an international commission, with immediate administration by the Jews. So far as Mesopotamia is concerned, it is felt that the nation having the best facilities for exercising a protectorate over that country should have sway. That nation is Great Britain. The Turks would still rule the greater part of the Anatolian Peninsula and the small slice of European soil they still occupy, but to have no authority over the Dardanelles.

In addition, there must be proper punishment of all Germans who have broken, or caused to be broken, international law. These personages include the murders of Edith Cavell and Captain Fryatt, numerous U-boat officers who have sunk hospital ships and passenger liners, the Germans who were responsible for the deportation of Belgian and French workmen from occupied districts and the abduction of French and Belgian girls into white slavery, the Germans who were responsible for reprehensible outrages to prisoners of war, and the aviators who bombed hospitals. German army officers responsible for atrocities early in the war, and those who directed the looting, burning and destruction of villages and the murder of innocent men and women, will be held personally responsible and adequately punished. This is designed to bring home to the German people in a personal and vivid manner that war is no excuse for atrocities and that those who step beyond the pale of civilization must pay. Names of scores of Germans directly responsible for specific outrages, with witnesses thereto, are down in black and white. Germany herself will have the opportunity of assisting in this punishment of her wayward sons.

Preliminary to any peace conference Great Britain demands that Germany surrender her U-boats and make good, at least in part (for Germany has not enough shipping to make full reparation) British merchant ships lost through unrestricted U-boat warfare. Germany's fleet likewise must be rendered ineffective.

NEW PRICES—30c, 60c, $1.20

Could You Beat This?

Way back in the olden days, when you sat down to a meal, and drank two—or, for good measure, we'll say three—glasses of milk for dinner, you thought you were a pretty good drinker; but, boy, you're all wrong—you ain't got nothing on Uncle Sam "A-TALL."

During the first seven months of the present year, the army required 1,612,313 cases of evaporated milk. This number is equivalent to 77,391,024 quarts of fresh milk, and it took approximately 50 milk concerns to furnish this amount.

Evaporated milk is an important element entering into the soldiers' ration. It is even more important in France than in this country, for there the rate of actual consumption is four times the allowance specified in army ration.—From the Camp Dodger.

A feeling of languor clung to me. After using a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I received great relief and my health improved."

A Prayer.

Among the good things that grow better with each reading is this prayer of Max Ehrmann:

"Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am, and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps the kindly light of hope. And though age and infirmity overtake me, and I come not within sight of the castle of my dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life, and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet; and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still.

"Even to the last, turn my hands to kindly service, and part my lips in gleeful songs of love. And in the softly falling dark, when all grows strangely still, may I be glad to have trod the sweet earth and known the tender touch of love. Yet may I depart with joy, as one who journeys home at evening."

Mrs. Orlen Kelley entertained with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood in Hopkins when her guests were Miss Willetta Kittell of this city, Miss Vijune Colden, Miss Flo Hunter and Miss Sara McMaster. Mrs. Kelley is teaching in the Hopkins schools this year.

When Father Came Home.

A Maryville father came home the other night and unexpected, walked in the room where daughter was entertaining her soldier sweetheart and found the young man kissing daughter.

"How is it, young man, I find you kissing my daughter," sputtered the irate father. "How is it, I say?"

"Fine, fine, sir," answered the young man, "and getting finer."

A Woman's Story With Great Meaning

Subject of Childbirth Discussed by Women of Experience.

Women everywhere tell their friends how, through the use of Mother's Friend, the wonderful penetrating external application, they avoided suffering and distress before the advent of nature's most wonderful evolution.

Mother's Friend is a remedy which spreads its influence upon the cords, nerves and ligaments involved, rendering them pliant to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. The nerves, cords, tendons and ligaments expand without that peculiar wrenching strain, and nervousness, nausea and unrestful sensations are naturally avoided when the nerves and muscles are relieved and thus are not tort and drawn.

By regular use, the lower abdominal region expands with ease when baby is born, the hours are less at the crisis, and pain and danger is naturally less.

You can obtain Mother's Friend from any drug store. It has been used by women for over half a century, and is just as standard as anything you can think of.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. H, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and get a bottle of Mother's Friend today, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

Forum-ettes

It looks as though the peace table would be as badly crowded as the Noda way Valley Bank corner when the Spit and Argue Club holds its afternoon sessions.

After having time for reflection the ex-kaiser must certainly have come to the conclusion that "Gott" was just kidding him.

A Maryville bachelor says he'll be glad when women have the right of suffrage so that he can help "get out the vote."

Among the important bulletins that come to this office with the request "please publish," is one on the subject of "Successful Collection of Salmon Eggs in Alaska." If you are interested you can have our copy by calling at this office. And yet some people wonder why newspaper men get bald headed.

A subscriber wants to know if a turnip is food. The sporting editor says a raw turnip is but a cooked turnip is not.

"Mr. Blank," said a Maryville collector the other day to a man to whom he presented a bill, "I am told that your slow pay methods are a habit with you and that you never try to pay your bills." "Nothing to it," replied the debtor. "Just some more German propaganda."

"Elder, do you consider hugging improper and sinful?" asked a young lady member of our congregation. "I do not. The Bible endorses it and as I take it, whatever the Bible endorses cannot be considered sinful. We are told in Holy Writ that 'The waste places shall be made glad.'"

"Have you noticed the scarcity of silver dollars?" asks an exchange. "By heck, we have. But what's the use of calling attention to the fact. There's always somebody taking the joy out of life by nosing in."

Another annoying thing about this Spanish influenza is that it is hatching ut a lot of "bugs" who insist on telling you a sure cure for it.

At-the-close-of-a-strenuous-day thot: Mr. President we move to amend the line "War Is Hell" by inserting after he word "war" the words "and work."

TOLD KAISER'S FALL IN 1829

Astrologer Declared That in 1913 Events Would Start Which Would End Empire.

Boston, Nov. 21.—As far back as 1829 an astrologer foretold of the downfall of the house of Hohenzollern, according to Captain Theodore Fillette, a retired naval officer who resides here.

In the Singapore disaster in 1889 Captain Fillette, then the officer in charge of the American ship Nipsic, rescued a young German naval lieutenant, the only survivor of the German man-of-war Eber. While the German was on the Nipsic the death of Emperor William, grandfather of the present ex-kaiser, was discussed, and the officer told of the astrologer's prophecy.

According to the German naval man's story the Emperor, upon reaching his twenty-first birthday in 1829, consulted an astrologer. The latter told him to write down the year and add the same date to the right-hand column, thus 1829

1849, saying: "On that date you shall become King of Prussia. Again add 1849

1871, on that date you shall become the head of the house of Hohenzollern. Then add 1871

1888, you will have the year of your death. Add 1888

1913;

in that year will begin a series of events which will mean the destruction of your mighty empire."

Captain Fillette calls attention to the fact that each of the events has happened in the years as foretold.

Letters of a Buick Private—1.

Dear Liz: Thanx for the box of fudge. The peace I got was fine although mushy.

Last night about 2 a. m. our Lutenant came around to our barrax and he said the Capt. was sick from something he 8 at the officers' mess for dinner. And did some buddie have a little whisky he could borrow for the Capt.?

Well the Lute wakes up Fat Levichitsky or however he spells his name in the next bunk & I guess Fat thought it looked pretty thin. Any way Fat says I'm awful sorry Lutenant but our Party was all over at 1 a. m. & he rolls over in his blankets again.

So the Lute goes all over the barrax and tries everybuddie. You know Liz it's kinda dark a round here after Taps & the boys pretended like they didn't know he was an aweficer & the way they cussed him out was a shame for waking them up before Revelry.

The Lute is a regular guy Liz but this time he was sure S. O. L.

Maybe you don't know what that stands for Liz. Well I hadn't auto explain it to you Liz. But it's a kind a army fraternity that every buddie sooner or later gets initiated into. I'm in it Liz.

Say, I just read where they want non-comes to drill the Y. W. C. A. girls in D. Moines every Wednesday. Liz you know I used to say just a Buick Private was good enough for me but after all I got superior Gifts. Like you always said I had Liz especially when I gave you a 5 lb box of candy @ $1.50 per lb.

So I went and bought a 2nd hand I. D. R. from a guy whats transferred into the ¼ Masters & he said he wouldn't need it no more, & I told the Lutenant today I'll be ready for him to make me a Caporal any time now. Some buddie has to drill the Y. W. C. A. girls & when it come to the ladies I'm no slacker, & no one knows that more than you Liz huh? Well I hear the bugle calling me to mess so I must clothes.

Your soldier man,
RED.

TOLD HUNS "TO GO TO HELL"

Whittlesey's Yanks, Caught in a Trap, Refused to Surrender.—Glory for Lost Battalion.

Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of "The Lost Battalion" of 700 Americans, who, surrounded by the thousands of Germans in the Argonne Forest, held out for five days until relief came, has arrived in New York from France. Seated in the Williams Club Colonel Whittlesey narrated a tale of bravery that has had few parallels in this war of splendid achievements says the New York World.

Cut off from their fellows, without ammunition and raked day and night by a withering boche machine gun fire, with "hundreds of Germans attacking with hand grenades and howling like 10,000 wild devils all day," Whittlesey's plucky little band had decided to die fighting gloriously. They faced starvation, had given up hope of re-enforcements arriving in time to save them.

Refused to Surrender.

"Then, October 7, the fifth day that we had been hemmed in the ravine, with the Germans firing down at us from the hills," Colonel Whittlesey said, "there came a German bearing a white flag. He brought us a typewritten message which ran about as follows:

"'We have heard the cries of your wounded. It is impossible for you to escape. Why do you not surrender in the name of humanity? Send back your reply by messenger carrying a white flag.'

"We did not know that re-enforcements were near at hand, and we believed we would all die of starvation. We had made up our minds never to surrender, but to die as men. So, when I yelled 'Go to hell!' all the men roared 'Righto! Stick boys! Never say die!' and gritted their teeth to face the death they felt was inevitable."

And then, with a rush and an exulting shout, fellow Americans swept the enemy from their strongly entrenched positions overlooking the trap in which Whittlesey's men were penned. Of the 700 men originally in the battalion, not more than half were alive and unwounded, and even these few were so weak from living on "leaves and chewing tobacco" that many collapsed.

Colonel Whittlesey is six feet three, and built in proportion. He is 35 years old, a native of Pittsfield, Mass., and a graduate of Williams College. He was a member of a law firm in New York City when the first training camps opened at Plattsburg. There he won his commission as captain, and went to Camp Upton with the 308th Infantry, where he gained further promotion.

No Food for Four Days.

Of the five days' fighting in the Argonne ravine he said:

"It was a horrible ordeal. Before each attack the Germans fired trench mortars at us, and then approached within ten yards and hurled hand grenades causing great loss of life. We lost 107 killed and more than twice that number wounded. It was impossible for us to bury our dead then, so we placed them all on a rocky hillside and interred them later.

"Of course, I don't know how many Germans we got rid of, but I judge their losses far surpassed ours. They buried their men at night, but later we found many bodies in the underbrush. The fierce fire from the German trench mortars had smashed nine of the eleven machine guns we had, and there were only five boxes of machine gun ammunition left. And nothing to eat for four days!"

Colonel Whittlesey then broke off in praise of the men under him. He failed to tell what he was doing when the rescuing force arrived, but the Stars and Stripes, published by the expeditionary forces in France, after calling his deed "the most gallant of the war," narrated how Colonel Whittlesey, himself starved, busied himself handing food around to his famished men first.

Public Notice

To any person that wants to make more money, come to Wyoming and buy you a farm where the crop in one year will pay for the land and where one acre put in potatoes will pay for five acres at the present price; where you and your family will be healthy and you are sure to prosper if you work and try like you have to in Missouri. Now I know what I am saying, as I lived here in good old Missouri for 18 years and always tried hard to get us a home, but when I left here three years ago I owed over $1,600.00 of debts here that I could not pay, but have paid them since I went to Wyoming. I am only telling you this to encourage you to come. We have good schools good churches, good water and climate, and as good people as you can find anywhere. I have land I can sell from $15.00 per acre up to $50.00 per acre. Close to two good railroads. Have got a 2,400 acre ranch at $25.00 per acre that is sure a bargain.

Now the first reason I want you to come to Wyoming is, because if you come and buy a farm I get a small commission out of it, but that is not the best reason. I know I will be doing you a favor and know you will always be glad you come. Now, in case some stranger to me should read this ad. I will give you as reference some of the best men in Nodaway County or any other county. In Parnell, James Barber, W. N. Morgan, C. C. Evans, A. J. Roof, Bill Jackson; Ravenwood, Mo., S. E. Wells, and V. O. Hunt; Barnard, Mo., George Cole, banker; Guynor City, Mo., Charlie Lewis; Sheridan, Mo., C. C. Hall; Hopkins, Mo., Albert Mutti; Maryville, Mo., Nathaniel Sisson, U. S. Wright, Henry Wright, James Robinson. For any information about this county, if you can't see me when I am here, write me at Carpenter, Wyo. I took three men out with me two weeks ago and sold all three a farm. Would be glad to have you talk to any of these men: Cecil Talkington of Parnell or Elmer Talkington and Pete Mumford of Bedford, Iowa. We raise corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, speltz, flax, millet, cane and potatoes, alfalfa and good gardens. Poultry of all kinds do well. Stock of all kinds do well, especially hogs, as hog cholera is unknown.

The only way you can realize what a good county we have is to come and see it. For further information, write—

'DO SOMETHING BIG'

ERECT "Y HUT" IN HONOR OF THE SOLDIERS, IS SUGGESTED

FOR PEOPLE OF COUNTY

No "Tin Horse, Marble Shaft, Drinking Fountain Affair," Should Be Considered Say Maryville Ministers.

In response to suggestions as to a suitable memorial in honor of Nodaway county's soldiers and in memory of those who will not return the Democrat-Forum has asked expression from the "folks who stayed at home"—the men and women who backed up the fighters—as to what form it should take. In response to the request the ministers of the city have joined in a suggestion that the county erect a memorial worth while and which will be a lasting benefit. The idea is embodied in the following:

November 20, 1918.

Democrat-Forum: Maryville and Nodaway county, as you suggest, should do something in honor of our soldier boys, but let it be something worth while. No "tin horse," marble shaft, drinking fountain affair, but something that shall be not only a memorial but a lasting benefit as well.

"Over there" the thing that stood for helpfulness and succor, in the fierce hell of war through which our boys passed, was the "Y Hut" or some kindred organization. One suggestion is that we build, equip and maintain a community building to be called "The Hut," on the lot opposite the Carnegie Library in Maryville. Then let us make it the moral, social and civic center of Nodaway county. In other words let it be a reminder of the "huts" the boys are used to in France, but let it also be a real "community center" for every social, economic and general religious interest of the county and city, a resting place for farmers and their families where they can enjoy some comfort when in town, a home for Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, the Business Girls Club, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, missionary societies, the Twentieth Century Club, D. A. R., Commercial Club, the Farm Bureau, the Ministerial Alliance and other approved organizations.

The only fitting name is "The Hut." It would stand like the feast of tabernacles "for a memorial forever" of the fierce fires through which our boys have passed, and for a perpetual benefit to the oncoming "second line of defense."

As to how the fund shall be obtained, our suggestion is that we use the organization which has so successfully put over the campaign for the United War Fund, or, if that be not available, an organization can easily be formed on similar lines.

This is our one opportunity to do something big and worth while. Come on! Let's do it!

OUR SCHOOL NEEDS

RURAL BETTERMENT CAMPAIGN TO START DECEMBER 2

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

Average Salary of Teachers But $30 a Month.—State Ranks 32d in Educational Facilities.

The state campaign for better rural school educational facilities will not start until December 2, having been postponed from November 25 on account of the influenza ban. County Superintendent Bert Cooper, member of the executive committee for the campaign, will go to St. Louis tonight to meet with the committee on Friday and Saturday, when plans will be discussed and dates for speakers in all of the 114 counties of the state arranged for.

The campaign was begun by the State Department of Education, through the state superintendent, Uel W. Lamkin, and $11,500 has already been raised.

Lamkin described the educational meetings as intended to "give the boys and girls of Missouri a square deal."

Describing rural school facilities in Missouri, Lamkin said the state was first in the number of mules and hogs, and thirty-second in educational facilities. He said the rural schools are poorly housed, and the average salary of the teachers is $30 a month. For each $100 annually spent in Missouri, only 25 cents goes to education in the rural schools, he said. Another comparison was that while Missouri spends $15,000 to maintain its education system in public schools, only $5,000,000 is spent throughout the country districts.

WHITE BREAD AGAIN

HOOVER ANNOUNCES 80-20 RULE WILL BE ABANDONED

TO GET MORE SUGAR, TOO

Supplies of Wheat From Argentine, Australia and India Are Released as War Ends.

Victory bread soon will disappear from the tables of American homes and public eating places, and more sugar may be put in the sugar bowl after December 1. These changes in the present food regulations have been announced by the Missouri Division of the Food Administration.

The signing of the armistice by Germany further improves the world situation in sugar to such an extent that where supplies are available, four pounds a month for each person in a household, instead of three pounds a month, will be allowed after December 1. Hotels will be allotted supplies on a basis of four pounds for each ninety meals served. The sugar supply in Missouri is adequate to permit this additional allowance being given to households and hotels. Manufacturers using sugar are to be allowed additional supplies.

At the conference of Federal Food Administrators in Washington, Mr. Hoover announced the 80-20 rule requiring that one pound of substitute must be bought with every four pounds of wheat flour, and that bakers must use 20 per cent substitute in all bread baked, will be abandoned immediately. Cessation of hostilities which will release supplies of wheat from the Argentine, Australia, and India, is the reason for the abandonment of the substitute rule.

"This does not mean, however, that the entire food conservation program will be relaxed," said F. B. Mumford, federal food administrator for Missouri. "Contrary to this rather widespread impression, strict economy in all the staple foods must be continued, even though the war is over. America has promised to export almost 20 million tons of food this year, 50 per cent more than was exported last year, and this promise must be fulfilled. To let down at this time in food conservation undoubtedly would result in disaster to the Allied nations. No new crops can be grown over night.

Not only must this promise to the Allies be fulfilled, Mr. Mumford pointed out, but some 180 million neutrals must be fed. And the smaller nations which have arisen from the wreck of the Austrian Empire must be kept in food. They cannot be liberated politically and allowed to starve.

"The efforts of the American people last year in saving food, especially wheat, prevented a collapse in the morale of the Allies," Mr. Mumford continued. "It was lack of food which helped to cause Russia's disintegration; it was lack of food to a large extent which caused the breakdown in the Central Powers; it was lack of food a year ago which almost put Italy out of the war when Austria made her last great drive. And it was sufficient food supplied by this country last winter which kept the Allies intact and put them in a position to take the offensive away from Germany and drive straight through the strongest German defense positions.

"These splendid efforts of the American people must not be nullified by a let-down now in food economy. The period of reconstruction after the war will be a critical one from a food viewpoint. Food must be supplied to a starving world; and America will be the hope of these starving nations."

HUN'S PLAN FAILED

CONFEREES STOOD FIRM

Will Go Into the Conference With a Fixed Program on Main Points of the Peace Terms.

(By Floyd MacGrif, I. N. S. Corres.)

London, Nov. 1.—(By Mail).—Germany's plan and hope to divide the Allies at the peace conference has been frustrated. This possibility has been forseen by Allied statesmen and effective measures taken to counteract it. Not only will the Allies be undivided upon any principal issue, but they, instead, will go into the peace conference with an unalterable and fixed programme on the main points.

On the highest authority I am able to state that the Associated Powers and the United States have been in communication for some weeks on peace terms which shall be granted to Germany. They are divided, roughly, into two classes. The first are the terms covering the main issues to be settled. Upon these there will be no discussion at the peace table, either among the Allies or with Germany. The second and minor class of points to be settled comprise those upon which the Allies have come to a decision, but regarding which they are willing to hear Germany's views, debate them, and if it is found advisable to alter them so as to give full and commensurate justice to all.

As yet the two divisions of peace terms have not been put in final form. They also await the ultimate o. k. of the various associated governments, but negotiations have reached such a stage that this indorsement now will be a mere formality.

Here are some of the main points upon which there is absolute agreement among the Allies and regarding which there will be no deviation at the peace conference.

Return of Alsace-Lorraine to France

Full and complete indemnification of Belgium, including both personal and public property stolen or destroyed, and restoration of Belgium to her former nationhood. Germany must pay up fully for her rampage in Belgium.

Germany must pay for damage done, both to public and private property in France, including factories dismantled. Similar payment must be made for damage done in Roumania, Serbia, Russia, Poland and Greece.

Poland, including pure Polish communities heretofore held by Russia, Prussia and Austria, to be reconstruct

65TH CONGRESS ENDS TODAY

Volume of Legislation Was Only Exceeded by That of the First Session.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The second session of the sixty-fifth congress was scheduled to come to a close with the end of today's session. The sine die adjournment resolution, when passed, will bring to an end a session whose volume of legislation was exceeded only by that of the first session of congress.

Faint whispers that adjournment might be blocked was heard in the capitol lobbies. This was due to the changed attitude of some Republicans as a result of President Wilson's announcement that he will attend the opening sessions of the peace conference. The Democrats asserted, however, any coup planned by the Republicans to postpone adjournment would not succeed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A sine die adjournment resolution was passed by the house soon after it met this afternoon. It provides that congress shall stand adjourned at five o'clock this evening. The senate will adopt the resolution, it is said, just before five o'clock.

IN TO LUXEMBURG

YANKS' 1ST DIVISION CROSSES THE LORRAINE LINE

LIBERATORS HONORED

Schools Have Been Closed for a Week in Expectation of the Advancing American Army.

With American Army of Occupation, Nov. 21.—All of Luxemburg, the grand duchy lying between Germany and France swarms with American soldiers today. The doughboys have entered the capital and General Pershing announced he would make a formal call upon Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, the ruler, at noon. Every way one looked there are long columns of marching troops, passing in every direction. American lines of communication and supplies are working with the regularity of clock work. Thousands of negroes are at work repairing broken roads filled with shell holes and mending the railways.

In the store windows and public buildings along the principal streets there were pictures of President Wilson, drawn by an artist of Esch, who had worked night and day to complete by hand as many drawings as possible. Pictures of President Poincare, Marshal Foch and King Albert also were prominently displayed.

To the 1st Division fell the honor of crossing the Lorraine line, the advance guard entering Armetz soon after 9 o'clock. For three days the civilians of Armetz had been looking for the Americans, expecting them every minute. There had been no school all week and the children had been drilled in singing and flag waving to receive the advancing army.

CAPTIVE GERMAN WARSHIPS ANCHORED OFF SCOTCH COAST

SURRENDER COMPLETE

Former Hun Crown Prince To Be Interned on Small Island Off Holland, It Is Reported.

London, Nov. 21.—The captive German battle fleet was anchored this afternoon off the Frith of Forth on the Scotch coast. Practically the entire German fleet has now complied with the terms of surrender in the armistice and is now in the hands of the Allies.

At Sea With Allied Grand Fleet, Nov. 21.—Germany surrendered the bulk and pride of her navy to the Allies in the North Sea today. American dreadnaughts took part in the ceremonies which were viewed by King George. The German battle ships turned over include the Kaiser, twenty-four thousand seven hundred tons, the Prince Regent and Frederick the Great of the same tonnage, and the cruisers Hindenburg, Derflinger and Von Der Tann.

Amsterdam, Nov. 21.—The tiny island of Wieringen off the Dutch coast, is to be the St. Helena for the former German crown prince, according to the newspaper Handelsblad today. This paper said the ex-crown prince was to be interned there. The island is only six miles long and contains less than three thousand population.

London, Nov. 21.—Sixteen more German submarines surrendered to the British navy today, bring the total up to forty-three turned over within the past two days.

"Mothers" American Soldiers.

London.—(By Universal Service).—American jackies over here have a real foster-mother in Mrs. Waldorf Astor, wife of one of the wealthiest and most prominent men from the United States.

She throws open her home to them and gives them teas, parties and, yes sometimes even plays Cupid for them, introducing them to fine girls here.

The boys call her "mother" and bring her all their little troubles to her. She's their real helper and adviser.

Once every week she calls all her boys together for a little meeting and "homey" chat, giving them real motherly advice.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

BON VOYAGE, MR. PRESIDENT.

When President Wilson went in person to Congress to read his first message there were gasps from some persons who cannot remember that the world moves.

There's a humorous comparison to be seen between the gasps at that time and the shocked expression with which some persons of the same type of mind greet the news that President Wilson will attend the peace conference in France.

Previous presidents have written long addresses that a secretary would mumble over for an hour or two while the congressmen read them, if at all, from the printed copies given out. Wilson boiled down his message to manageable length and got the attention of congressmen while he read it.

Previous presidents had established a tradition of staying in this country while in office. If Wilson were to continue this tradition he would be like a business man who insisted on staying in his office while negotiations which would determine the whole future of his business were going on in a neighboring city.

No matter who the American representative in the peace conference may be, everyone knows that Wilson's will be the deciding voice. His judgment will be surer, his decisions keener, his influence greater, if he is on the spot than if he has to work through 3,000 miles of cable and half a dozen messengers at the other end.

And as for that tradition that a president should not leave his country previous presidents have gone to Panama, taking the stand that they were on American soil so long as they were aboard an American naval vessel.

Surely France would not object if we should similarly claim some sentimental right in the soil where American blood has been shed for the freedom of the world.—The University Missourian.

DIGNITY AND DUTY.

Before the President had made up his mind to attend the peace conference The New York Times argued that he ought not to go because there would be something unseemliness in his participation in a conference, however important, in which other nations were represented by officials of lower rank than himself. The Times fears that the dignity of the President may suffer if he gets into a rough-and-tumble debate with such lowly persons as Prime Ministers, Professors of International Law, and Judges in high courts of justice.

That does not strike The Republic as the American way of looking at the question. The job to be done is to make a peace treaty to which all of the nations will agree, and before there can be any legal agreement by this country the President must be satisfied.

He can go to Paris and talk with Lloyd George, Clemenceau and the rest of them face to face, or he can talk through Col. House or Elihu Root from the American end of a cable. If he attempts to negotiate by cable, he will be in danger of being misunderstood, and also may misunderstand the other negotiators. If he goes, misunderstandings will be easily cleared up and the weight of his tremendous personal prestige will be on the side of such a settlement as America desires.

In that situation it would look as if dignity had better be left to take care of itself, or, rather, left in the safekeeping of that dignified gentleman, the President of the United States.—St. Louis Republic.

HUN'S PLAN FAILED

ed into an independent state.

The Czecho-Slovaks to be fully and completely independent.

The Balkans to be reconstituted along racial lines, so as to permit the Jugo-Slavs to be an independent state.

The German colonies NOT to be restored to Germany.

Nationality and statehood to be accorded the Arabs.

Syria, Palestine and Mesopotamia not to be returned to Turkey, but given into the care of members of the League of Nations, which shall be established.

The Dardanelles to be internationalized.

Armenia to have autonomy.

Turkey to retain only those districts which are preponderantly Turkish in population.

Italy to have redemption of Italian districts heretofore autocratically ruled by Austria, and Italy to be given security by proper land and sea safeguards, from possibility of attack from the east and north.

Roumania to be restored along racial lines.

Greece to be given proper safeguards.

A League of Nations.

Freedom of the seas to be denied any nation which secretly aspires or openly threatens to employ U-boats in unrestricted naval warfare.

The above points are the main ones whose general terms have been accepted, it may be safely assumed by the Associated Powers. Connected with several of them are details to be agreed upon.

For instance, the exact amount Germany must pay will be linked upon her ability to pay, for the amount will not be made so great she cannot pay it. For this reason, France, Italy, Great Britain and the United States will not ask any indemnity for expenditures made necessary by the war. But Germany is fully capable of paying for damage done in Belgium, unofficially estimated to be more than $2,500,000,000, and for barbarism perpetrated in Poland, Russia, Roumania, Serbia and other Balkan countries, concerning which there are no unofficial estimates of the damage caused.

It was the counsel of Great Britain and her colonies and dominions which prevailed against Germany's wish to get back her colonies. Even though a League of Nations is established the British Empire, her statesmen point out, cannot afford the menace and risk involved by returning Germany's colonies, which easily could be converted into U-boat bases for strangling the British Empire. Great Britain has suffered sufficiently, with the loss of 15,000 sailors and some 8,000,000 tons of shipping, due to U-boat ravages, that she can with good grace demand this protection. And the Allies have agreed. Great Britain does not care what is done with the colonies just so they do not revert to Germany. Administration of them by the League of Nations is being considered.

So far as Syria is concerned, it has not yet been fully decided whether that land will become autonomous or be given into the care of the French, who for 100 years have held a traditional protectorate over the land. Palestine may be left to an international commission, with immediate administration by the Jews. So far as Mesopotamia is concerned, it is felt that the nation having the best facilities for exercising a protectorate over that country should have sway. That nation is Great Britain. The Turks would still rule the greater part of the Anatolian Peninsula and the small slice of European soil they still occupy, but to have no authority over the Dardanelles.

In addition, there must be proper punishment of all Germans who have broken, or caused to be broken, international law. These personages include the murders of Edith Cavell and Captain Fryatt, numerous U-boat officers who have sunk hospital ships and passenger liners, the Germans who were responsible for the deportation of Belgian and French workmen from occupied districts and the abduction of French and Belgian girls into white slavery, the Germans who were responsible for reprehensible outrages to prisoners of war, and the aviators who bombed hospitals. German army officers responsible for atrocities early in the war, and those who directed the looting, burning and destruction of villages and the murder of innocent men and women, will be held personally responsible and adequately punished. This is designed to bring home to the German people in a personal and vivid manner that war is no excuse for atrocities and that those who step beyond the pale of civilization must pay. Names of scores of Germans directly responsible for specific outrages, with witnesses thereto, are down in black and white. Germany herself will have the opportunity of assisting in this punishment of her wayward sons.

Preliminary to any peace conference Great Britain demands that Germany surrender her U-boats and make good, at least in part (for Germany has not enough shipping to make full reparation) British merchant ships lost through unrestricted U-boat warfare. Germany's fleet likewise must be rendered ineffective.

Could You Beat This?

Way back in the olden days, when you sat down to a meal, and drank two—or, for good measure, we'll say three—glasses of milk for dinner, you thought you were a pretty good drinker; but, boy, you're all wrong—you ain't got nothing on Uncle Sam "A-TALL."

During the first seven months of the present year, the army required 1,612,313 cases of evaporated milk. This number is equivalent to 77,391,024 quarts of fresh milk, and it took approximately 50 milk concerns to furnish this amount.

Evaporated milk is an important element entering into the soldiers' ration. It is even more important in France than in this country, for there the rate of actual consumption is four times the allowance specified in army ration.—From the Camp Dodger.

A Prayer.

Among the good things that grow better with each reading is this prayer of Max Ehrmann:

"Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am, and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps the kindly light of hope. And though age and infirmity overtake me, and I come not within sight of the castle of my dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life, and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet; and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still.

"Even to the last, turn my hands to kindly service, and part my lips in gleeful songs of love. And in the softly falling dark, when all grows strangely still, may I be glad to have trod the sweet earth and known the tender touch of love. Yet may I depart with joy, as one who journeys home at evening."

When Father Came Home.

A Maryville father came home the other night and unexpected, walked in the room where daughter was entertaining her soldier sweetheart and found the young man kissing daughter.

"How is it, young man, I find you kissing my daughter," sputtered the irate father. "How is it, I say?"

"Fine, fine, sir," answered the young man, "and getting finer."

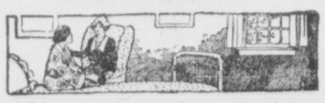
A Woman's Story With Great Meaning

Subject of Childbirth Discussed by Women of Experience.



Women everywhere tell their friends how, through the use of Mother's Friend, the wonderful penetrating external application, they avoided suffering and distress before the advent of nature's most wonderful evolution.

Mother's Friend is a remedy which spreads its influence upon the cords, nerves and ligaments involved, rendering them pliant to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. The nerves, cords, tendons and ligaments expand without that peculiar wrenching strain, and nervousness, nausea and unrestful sensations are naturally avoided when the nerves and muscles are relieved and thus are not tort and drawn.

By regular use, the lower abdominal region expands with ease when baby is born, the hours are less at the crisis, and pain and danger is naturally less.

You can obtain Mother's Friend from any drug store. It has been used by women for over half a century, and is just as standard as anything you can think of.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. H, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and get a bottle of Mother's Friend today, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

Forum-ettes

It looks as though the peace table would be as badly crowded as the Noda way Valley Bank corner when the Spit and Argue Club holds its afternoon sessions.

After having time for reflection the ex-kaiser must certainly have come to the conclusion that "Gott" was just kidding him.

A Maryville bachelor says he'll be glad when women have the right of suffrage so that he can help "get out the vote."

Among the Important bulletins that come to this office with the request "please publish," is one on the subject of "Successful Collection of Salmon Eggs in Alaska." If you are interested you can have our copy by calling at this office. And yet some people wonder why newspaper men get bald headed.

A subscriber wants to know if a turnip is food. The sporting editor says a raw turnip is but a cooked turnip is not.

"Mr. Blank," said a Maryville collector the other day to a man to whom he presented a bill, "I am told that your slow pay methods are a habit with you and that you never try to pay your bills." "Nothing to it," replied the debtor. "Just some more German propaganda."

"Elder, do you consider hugging improper and sinful?" asked a young lady member of our congregation. "I do not. The Bible endorses it and as I take it, whatever the Bible endorses cannot be considered sinful. We are told in Holy Writ that 'The waste places shall be made glad.'"

"Have you noticed the scarcity of silver dollars?" asks an exchange. "By heck, we have. But what's the use of calling attention to the fact. There's always somebody taking the joy out of life by nosing in."

Another annoying thing about this Spanish influenza is that it is hatching ut a lot of "bugs" who insist on telling you a sure cure for it.

At-the-close-of-a-strenuous-day thot: Mr. President we move to amend the line "War Is Hell" by inserting after he word "war" the words "and work."

TOLD KAISER'S FALL IN 1829

Astrologer Declared That in 1913 Events Would Start Which Would End Empire.

Boston, Nov. 21.—As far back as 1829 an astrologer foretold of the downfall of the house of Hohenzollern, according to Captain Theodore Fillette, a retired naval officer who resides here.

In the Singapore disaster in 1889 Captain Fillette, then the officer in charge of the American ship Nipsie, rescued a young German naval lieutenant, the only survivor of the German man-of-war Eber. While the German was on the Nipsie the death of Emperor William, grandfather of the present ex-kaiser, was discussed, and the officer told of the astrologer's prophecy.

According to the German naval man's story the Emperor, upon reaching his twenty-first birthday in 1829, consulted an astrologer. The latter told him to write down the year and add the same date to the right-hand column, thus 1829

1849, saying: "On that date you shall become King of Prussia. Again add 1849

1871, on that date you shall become the head of the house of Hohenzollern. Then add 1871

1913;

in that year will begin a series of events which will mean the destruction of your mighty empire."

Captain Fillette calls attention to the fact that each of the events has happened in the years as foretold.

Letters of a Buick Private—1.

Dear Liz: Thanx for the box of fudge. The peace I got was fine although mushy.

Last night about 2 a. m. our Lutenant came around to our barrax and he said the Capt. was sick from something he 8 at the officers' mess for dinner. And did some buddie have a little whisky he could borrow for the Capt.?

Well the Lute wakes up Fat Levichitsky or however he spells his name in the next bunk & I guess Fat thought it looked pretty thin. Any way Fat says I'm awful sorry Lutenant but our Party was all over at 1 a. m. & he rolls over in his blankets again.

So the Lute goes all over the barrax and tries everybuddie. You know Liz it's kinda dark a round here after Taps & the boys pretended like they didn't know he was an aweficer & the way they cussed him out was a shame for waking them up before Revelry.

The Lute is a regular guy Liz but this time he was sure S. O. L.

Maybe you don't know what that stands for Liz. Well I hadn't auto explain it to you Liz. But it's a kind a army fraternity that every buddie sooner or later gets initiated into. I'm in it Liz.

Say, I just read where they want non-comes to drill the Y. W. C. A. girls in D. Moines every Wednesday. Liz you know I used to say just a Buick Private was good enough for me but after all I got superior Gifts. Like you always said I had Liz especially when I gave you a 5 lb box of candy @ $1.50 per lb.

So I went and bought a 2nd hand I. D. R. from a guy whats transferred into the ¼ Masters & he said he wouldn't need it no more, & I told the Lutenant today I'll be ready for him to make me a Caporal any time now. Some buddie has to drill the Y. W. C. A. girls & when it come to the ladies I'm no slacker, & no one knows that more than you Liz huh? Well I hear the bugle calling me to mess so I must clothes.

Your soldier man,

TOLD HUNS "TO GO TO HELL"

Whittlesey's Yanks, Caught in a Trap, Refused to Surrender.—Glory for Lost Battalion.

Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of "The Lost Battalion" of 700 Americans, who, surrounded by the thousands of Germans in the Argonne Forest, held out for five days until relief came, has arrived in New York from France. Seated in the Williams Club Colonel Whittlesey narrated a tale of bravery that has had few parallels in this war of splendid achievements says the New York World.

Cut off from their fellows, without ammunition and raked day and night by a withering boche machine gun fire, with "hundreds of Germans attacking with hand grenades and howling like 10,000 wild devils all day," Whittlesey's plucky little band had decided to die fighting gloriously. They faced starvation, had given up hope of re-enforcements arriving in time to save them.

Refused to Surrender.

"Then, October 7, the fifth day that we had been hemmed in the ravine, with the Germans firing down at us from the hills," Colonel Whittlesey said, "there came a German bearing a white flag. He brought us a typewritten message which ran about as follows:

"'We have heard the cries of your wounded. It is impossible for you to escape. Why do you not surrender in the name of humanity? Send back your reply by messenger carrying a white flag.'

"We did not know that re-enforcements were near at hand, and we believed we would all die of starvation. We had made up our minds never to surrender, but to die as men. So, when I yelled 'Go to hell!' all the men roared 'Righto! Stick boys! Never say die!' and gritted their teeth to face the death they felt was inevitable."

And then, with a rush and an exulting shout, fellow Americans swept the enemy from their strongly entrenched positions overlooking the trap in which Whittlesey's men were penned. Of the 700 men originally in the battalion, not more than half were alive and unwounded, and even these few were so weak from living on "leaves and chewing tobacco" that many collapsed.

Colonel Whittlesey is six feet three, and built in proportion. He is 35 years old, a native of Pittsfield, Mass., and a graduate of Williams College. He was a member of a law firm in New York City when the first training camps opened at Plattsburg. There he won his commission as captain, and went to Camp Upton with the 308th Infantry, where he gained further promotion.

No Food for Four Days.

Of the five days' fighting in the Argonne ravine he said:

"It was a horrible ordeal. Before each attack the Germans fired trench mortars at us, and then approached within ten yards and hurled hand grenades causing great loss of life. We lost 107 killed and more than twice that number wounded. It was impossible for us to bury our dead then, so we placed them all on a rocky hillside and interred them later.

"Of course, I don't know how many Germans we got rid of, but I judge their losses far surpassed ours. They buried their men at night, but later we found many bodies in the underbrush. The fierce fire from the German trench mortars had smashed nine of the eleven machine guns we had, and there were only five boxes of machine gun ammunition left. And nothing to eat for four days!"

Colonel Whittlesey then broke off in praise of the men under him. He failed to tell what he was doing when the rescuing force arrived, but the Stars and Stripes, published by the expeditionary forces in France, after calling his deed "the most gallant of the war," narrated how Colonel Whittlesey, himself starved, busied himself handing food around to his famished men first.

Public Notice

To any person that wants to make more money, come to Wyoming and buy you a farm where the crop in one year will pay for the land and where one acre put in potatoes will pay for five acres at the present price; where you and your family will be healthy and you are sure to prosper if you work and try like you have to in Missouri. Now I know what I am saying, as I lived here in good old Missouri for 18 years and always tried hard to get us a home, but when I left here three years ago I owed over $1,600.00 of debts here that I could not pay, but have paid them since I went to Wyoming. I am only telling you this to encourage you to come. We have good schools good churches, good water and climate, and as good people as you can find anywhere. I have land I can sell from $15.00 per acre up to $50.00 per acre. Close to two good railroads. Have got a 2,400 acre ranch at $25.00 per acre that is sure a bargain.

Now the first reason I want you to come to Wyoming is, because if you come and buy a farm I get a small commission out of it, but that is not the best reason. I know I will be doing you a favor and know you will always be glad you come. Now, in case some stranger to me should read this ad. I will give you as reference some of the best men in Nodaway County or any other county. In Parnell, James Barber, W. N. Morgan, C. C. Evans, A. J. Roof, Bill Jackson; Ravenwood, Mo., S. E. Wells, and V. O. Hunt; Barnard, Mo., George Cole, banker; Gaynor City, Mo., Charlie Lewis; Sheridan, Mo., C. C. Hall; Hopkins, Mo., Albert Mutti; Maryville, Mo., Nathaniel Sisson, U. S. Wright, Henry Wright, James Robinson. For any information about this county, if you can't see me when I am here, write me at Carpenter, Wyo. I took three men out with me two weeks ago and sold all three a farm. Would be glad to have you talk to any of these men: Cecil Talkington of Parnell or Elmer Talkington and Pete Mumford of Bedford, Iowa. We raise corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, speltz, flax, millet, cane and potatoes, alfalfa and good gardens. Poultry of all kinds do well. Stock of all kinds do well, especially hogs, as hog cholera is unknown.

The only way you can realize what a good county we have is to come and see it. For further information, write—

Frank Bebb, Carpenter, Wyoming
